

SP5000 Series changes your production site.

Remotely monitoring robots in the production site enhances operation efficiency.

Before

It's hard to check problems and change data of robots in a plant located overseas. When giving instructions to an operator there on the phone, it's difficult to make him understand what to do and it takes time and effort.

After

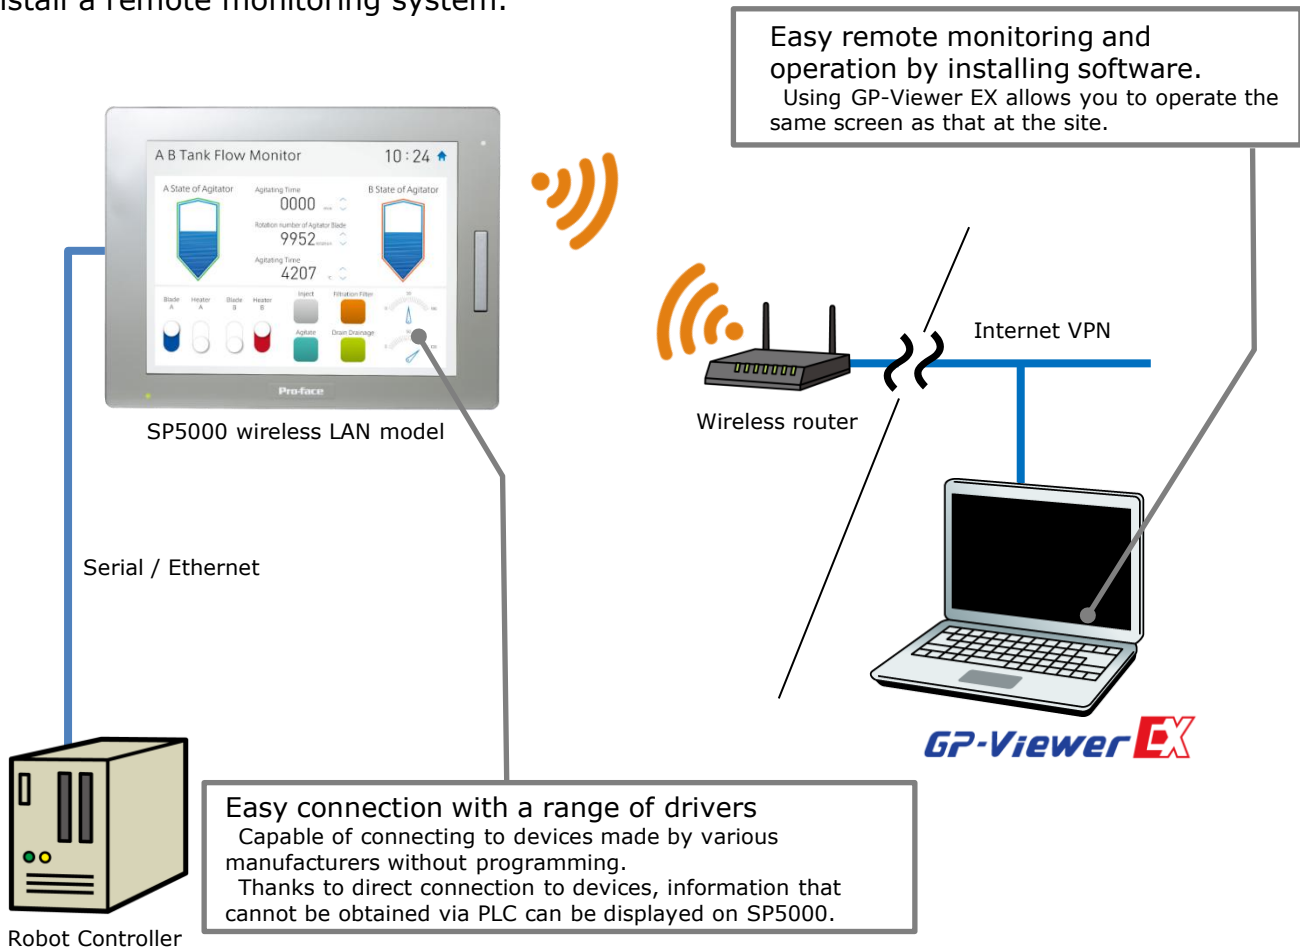

Using remote monitoring software and SP5000 allows you to check status of the plant overseas from Japan. Because SP5000 has wireless LAN mounted, cabling required for installing a remote monitoring system can be reduced.

Change the settings from remote location without asking local staff.

System Configuration

Using SP5000 and remote monitoring software called GP-Viewer EX allows you to easily install a remote monitoring system.
